Live and be well.

"Vive Saludablemente!"

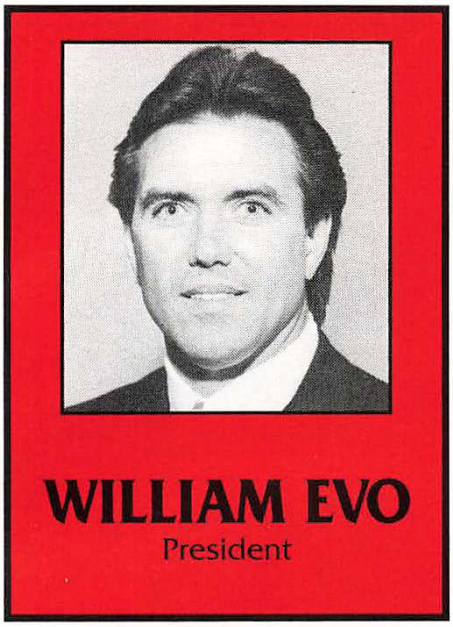
Spanish

This is my daughter Alicia, a college freshman. She just told me in Spanish to "live and be well". I also wish the same for her. That's why we're covered by The Wellness Plan. They keep us well - and treat us well when we're not. And thanks to The Wellness Plan, I'm becoming a model of good health. So not only will I be here for Alicia's graduation, but for her wedding, my grandchildren...

So, if you want your family to "live and be well", call (313) 875-WELL today.

THE WELLNESS PLAN

An HMO that's good for you.



Integrity, commitment, enthusiasm and a vast knowledge of hockey, both inside the boards and in the boardrooms. William Evo brings those ingredients and more to his new position as team president.

A former player agent and one-time player in the World Hockey Association, the 41-year-old Detroit native was named to the position by Owner Mike Ilitch last Sept. 5. Evo oversees the Red Wings' organization and works in concert with other team executives and coaches in business and hockey decisions. He also represents the club on the NHL's Board of Governors.

A practicing attorney for 11 years, Evo had been president of the Evo & Mammina law firm in suburban Detroit for the past nine years, concentrating on corporate and contract law and litigation. He also represented several NHL players over the years, along with Hall of Famers such as Alex Delvecchio and Ted Lindsay. When appointed to his position in Detroit's front office, Evo was serving as president and general counsel of the Red Wings' Alumni Association.

Evo was selected once before by the Red Wings — as a player in the third round (45th overall) of the 1974 NHL Entry Draft. However, the right wing opted to sign with the Michigan Stags, the Detroit-based club which had chosen him in that year's WHA draft. He also saw action in the WHA with Cleveland and Edmonton before hanging up the skates in 1979.

The third of 10 children who was born in Detroit and raised in suburban Royal Oak, Evo left home at age 16 to pursue hockey in the junior ranks, playing for three years under future NHL coach Roger Neilson with the Peterborough Petes.

After retiring as a player from the WHA, Evo continued his education, graduating with honors in 1981 from the University of Western Ontario (in London) and receiving a juris doctorate degree in 1984 from the University of Detroit School of Law.

Bill and wife Gail reside in suburban Detroit with son William and daughter Megan.

Although he rarely receives public acclaim, Jim Devellano has been a leading architect drawing the blueprint that built the Red Wings from one of the NHL's weakest teams into the powerful Western Conference champions with the league's best regular-season record.

Devellano is in his 14th season with the Red Wings — his sixth as senior vice-president after the first eight as general manager. An excellent judge of talent throughout his 29 years in the NHL, Devellano often departs from administrative duties to scout players on all levels and assist the scouting staff in preparations for the Entry Draft. In addition, he serves as the team's alternate on the NHL's Board of Governors. Jim became a team vice-president Dec. 30, 1985, and assumed his present position July 13, 1990.

Devellano came to Detroit as general manager July 12, 1982, and built a team through the draft, trades and free agency that won two Norris Division regular-season championships (1988 and '89) and twice appeared in the Stanley Cup semifinals ('87 and '88). He also had a hand in developing the Adirondack farm club that won two Calder Cup titles as AHL champions ('86 and '89) under his command.

Devellano, 52, did not play professional hockey but came up through the ranks in various capacities in his native Toronto. He became a scout with the St. Louis Blues in 1967 when the NHL expanded from six to 12 teams. The Blues reached the Stanley Cup final in each of their first three seasons.

Joining the New York Islanders as a scout when that club was founded in 1972, Devellano's scouting skills helped to build a team that won four consecutive Stanley Cup titles (1980-83). In 79-80, he became G.M. of the Islanders' Indianapolis (CHL) farm club and was named Minor League Executive of the Year by The Hockey News in his first year. He returned to New York in '81 as the Islanders' assistant G.M.

SCOTTY BOWMAN

Director of Player Personnel/
Head Coach

Scotty Bowman is the winningest coach in NHL history, has seven Stanley Cup rings and already is a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame. But he is not dwelling on past accomplishments or showing any signs of slowing down in a quest to bring the Stanley Cup to Detroit, witnessed by the new three-year contract he signed last July 3.

Bowman is in his 24th season as an NHL coach and third behind the Red Wings' bench. This is his second year as the club's director of player personnel. Last season he orchestrated several key acquisitions and superbly directed a team that won the President's Trophy with the NHL's best regular-season record and reached the Stanley Cup final before losing to the New Jersey Devils.

Bowman has coached teams to six Stanley Cup championships and is bidding to become the first coach to win the Cup with three different teams. He is the only NHL coach to register 1,000 victories overall in the regular season and playoffs. The total was 1,065 entering this season — 913-421-238 in 1,572 regular-season games and 152-92 in 244 playoff contests. He reached the 900 mark in regular-season victories Mar. 25, 1995, at Vancouver after posting his 1,000th overall triumph the season before on Feb. 2, 1994, at Tampa Bay. Scotty has the best regular-season winning percentage (.656) of anyone who has coached at least 600 regular-season games.

Bowman's six Cup titles as a coach are second only to Toe Blake (8). Ten times in 23 seasons, Bowman has been to the Cup final, second behind Dick Irvin (16). Scotty ranks first on the all-time playoff coaching ledger in victories, games, playoff series and series won. He has coached 48 series and won 33. Among those coaching a minimum of 65 postseason games, Bowman's .623 winning percentage is third after Glen Sather (.706) and Blake (.689). In the Stanley Cup finals, Bowman is third in victories with a 24-21 mark in 45 games, trailing Irvin and Blake (32 wins each), and Bowman is third in games in the finals after Irvin (77) and Blake (48).

Bowman, 62, became the 22nd head coach in Detroit history June 15, 1993, signing a two-year deal, and on June 24, 1994, he added the title of director of player personnel.

Before coming to Detroit, Bowman had coached Pittsburgh the previous two seasons, including his most recent Cup title in 1992. Scotty had earned his other Stanley Cup ring in 1991 when he was Pittsburgh's director of player development and recuitment. In 1991-92, Bowman took the reins as the Penguins' coach when the late Bob Johnson became ill. Scotty remained in the dual role through the 92-93 season.

When Detroit won the Central Division last season, it was Bowman's 12th division title. Six times his teams have been first overall in the NHL, and one of his clubs tied for best record. Bowman's teams have amassed 100 or more points 11 times and missed the playoffs only twice.

Bowman broke into the NHL coaching ranks with the St. Louis Blues in the 1967-68 season, when the NHL expanded from six to 12 teams. The Blues advanced to the Cup final in each of their first three seasons and won two division titles.

Moving in 1971 to Montreal — where he earlier had worked and coached in the Canadiens' minor league system — Bowman achieved remarkable success. He won the Stanley Cup five times (1973 and '76 through '79) and rang up six division titles in eight seasons.

In seven of his eight seasons in Montreal, the Canadiens notched more than 100 points and missed the mark once with 99. The three best victory and point totals in NHL history belong to Bowman's Montreal teams (60 wins and 132 points in 76-77, 59 and 129 in 77-78 and 58 and 127 in 75-76). The 76-77 club holds the league record for fewest defeats (8) in a season of 70 or more games.

Bowman went to the Buffalo Sabres in 1979, where he was general manager and shared coaching duties until 1987. He won a division title in his first year behind the Buffalo bench in 79-80.

After leaving the Sabres, Bowman worked for CBC-TV's "Hockey Night in Canada" from 1987 until joining Pittsburgh's front office in June of '90.

Bowman also has been a winner on the international stage, coaching Team Canada to the 1976 Canada Cup title. He also guided Team Canada in the '81 Canada Cup and the NHL All-Stars in a three-game series against the Soviet Union in '79. Scotty was inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1991.

William Scott Bowman was born Sept. 18, 1933, in Montreal. He and wife Suella have five children, Alicia, David, Stanley, Bob and Nancy, and spend the off-season in suburban Buffalo.

KEN HOLLAND

Assistant General Manager/
Goaltending Consultant

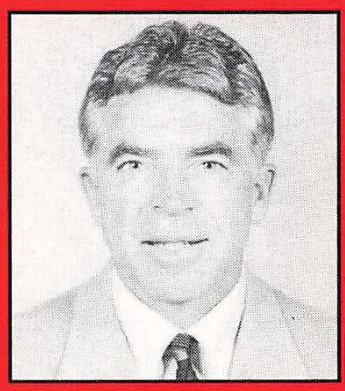
Ken Holland has deftly handled several tasks during 12 years with the Red Wings and is continuing his outstanding work in his second season as assistant general manager while also serving as G.M. of Detroit's Adirondack (AHL) affiliate and goaltending consultant for the entire organization.

In addition to numerous administrative duties, including contract negotiations, Holland has been Detroit's point person at the NHL Entry Draft for the past six years. He's had a hand in selecting several top players, including Keith Primeau, Vyacheslav Kozlov, Darren McCarty, Chris Osgood and Martin Lapointe, along with some top prospects.

Holland, 40, was elevated to his present position June 20, 1994, after five years as amateur scouting director. He had joined the scouting staff in '85 as western Canada scout after finishing his career as a goaltender with Adirondack.

A native of Vernon, BC, Holland played in the junior ranks for Medicine Hat (WHL) in 74-75. He was Toronto's 13th pick (188th overall) in the '75 draft but never saw action with the Maple Leafs. Holland twice signed with NHL teams as a free agent — in '80 with Hartford and '83 with Detroit. He spent most of his pro career with AHL clubs in Binghamton and Springfield, along with Adirondack. He appeared in four NHL games, making his debut with Hartford in 80-81 and playing three contests for Detroit in 83-84.

Ken and wife Cindy have four children, Brad, Julie, Rachel and Greg, and reside in suburban Detroit.



BARRY SMITH

Associate Coach

Barry Smith is a keen observer of hockey around the world and always on the lookout for tactics that can make a team improve. His skill as an innovator was manifested last season when he was instrumental in installing the "left wing lock" defensive system he discovered while watching teams in Sweden. The Red Wings had been 16th in the NHL with a 3.24 goals-against average in 1993-94 but soared to second in the league last season with a 2.42 mark.

Smith is in his third season as an assistant coach behind the Detroit bench. Success accompanies Smith wherever he goes, including two Stanley Cup rings as an assistant with the Pittsburgh Penguins and in coaching stints on the college and international levels. Scotty Bowman relies heavily on Smith, who also assisted the legendary head coach at Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

Smith, 44, came to Detroit July 28, 1993, after being an assistant at Pittsburgh for three seasons, first under the late Bob Johnson and then two years with Bowman while the Penguins won Stanley Cup titles in 1991 and '92. Smith also spent three years as an assistant at Buffalo.

Barry entered the coaching ranks in 1975 as head coach at Elmira (NY) College while earning a masters degree in education. His clubs won three Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference titles and twice were NCAA Division III finalists.

Moving to Europe, Smith coached in Sweden from 1981 to '84 and Norway from '84 to '86, serving as an assistant on the Norweigan club in the World Championships. He also scouted European prospects for the Sabres, and in March of '86 he went to Buffalo as Bowman's assistant. Smith worked one year under Bowman and remained in Buffalo until 1989, when he journeyed to Italy for one season to coach the Alleghe club and the Italian National Team. He joined the Penguins in 1990-91 as Johnson's assistant, and also was an aide to Johnson on Team USA in the 1991 Canada Cup.

The Buffalo native received a degree in physical education in 1972 from Ithaca (NY) College, where he starred in hockey and football. He was elected to the school's Hall of Fame in 1992.

Barry and wife Mary have a son, Ryan, and a daughter, Molly, and spend the off-season in suburban Buffalo.

DAVE LEWIS

Associate Coach

Dave Lewis played nearly 15 seasons as an NHL defenseman and acquired a keen knowledge of the game that has been essential in the Red Wings' rise, especially as one of the league's elite clubs in defensive play and special teams.

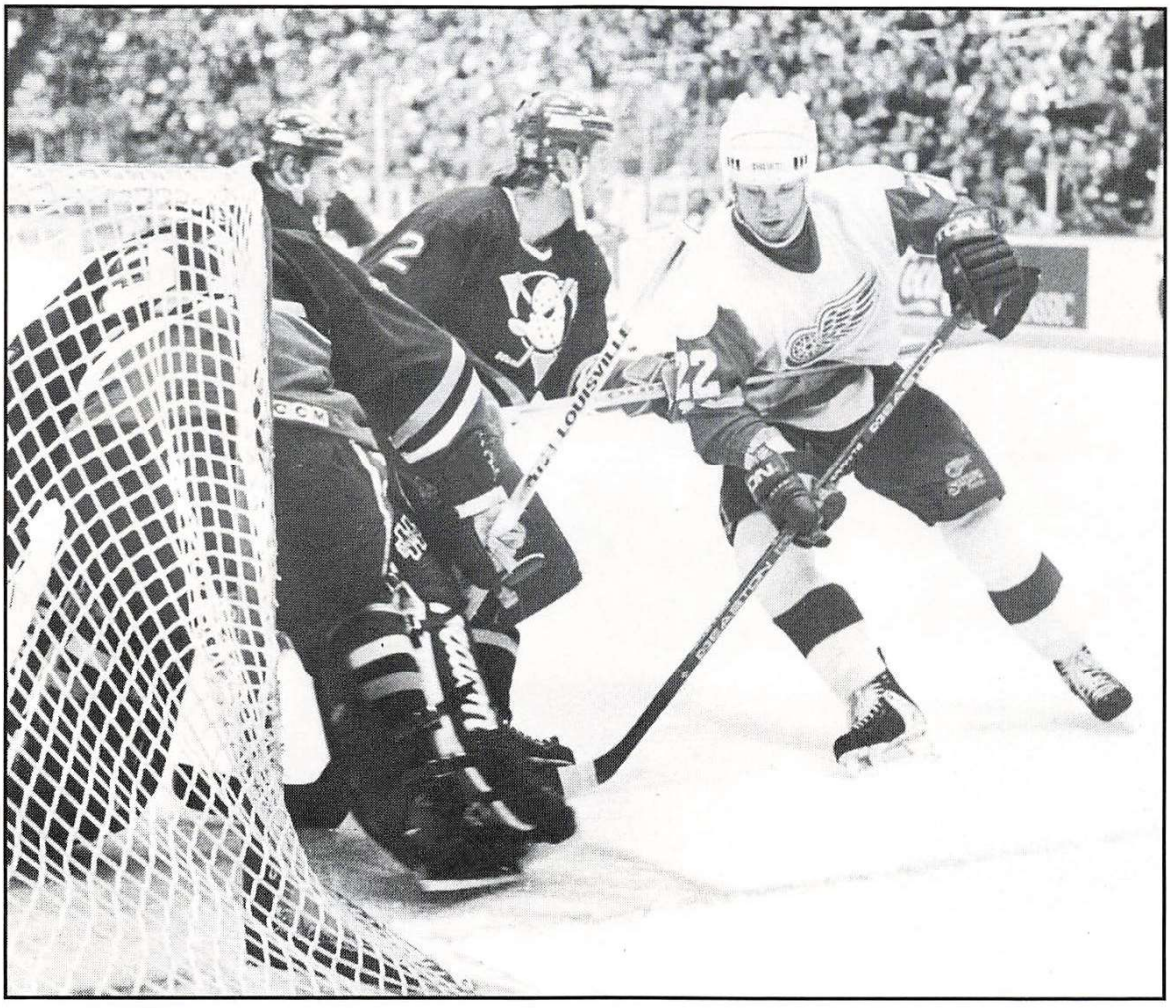
Lewis is in his eighth year as a Detroit assistant coach. Impressive is the fact that he has worked under three head coaches in a sport in which assistants usually are tied to the top man. He started with Jacques Demers, continued under Bryan Murray and now assists Scotty Bowman. Lewis' duties also include extensive video work used in pre-scouting opponents.

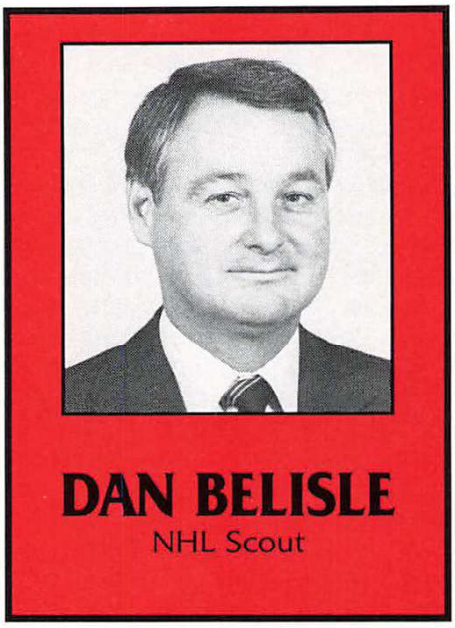
Lewis, 41, joined the coaching staff immediately after retiring as a player Nov. 6, 1987, amid his 15th NHL season. This is his ninth year in the Detroit organization since signing as a free agent (no compensation) July 28, 1986.

A native of Kindersley, SK, Lewis played junior hockey for Saskatoon (WHL) and was the New York Islanders' second pick (33rd overall) in the 1973 Entry Draft (selected by Jim Devellano, the Islanders' chief scout at the time). Lewis jumped from the junior ranks to the NHL and never played in the minor leagues.

Dave's biggest milestone came when he played in his 1,000th regular-season game Apr. 1, 1987, against Philadelphia at Joe Louis Arena. In all, he played 1,008 regular-season games with the Islanders, Los Angeles, New Jersey and Detroit, recording 36 goals, 187 assists and 953 PIM. He also appeared in 91 playoff games, with one goal, 20 assists and 143 PIM.

Dave and wife Brenda live in suburban Detroit and have a son, Ryan, and daughter, Meagan.





DAN BELISLE
NHL Scout

Dan Belisle has a key role whenever the Red Wings' management and coaching staff gather for strategy sessions on player personnel decisions or game plans. Belisle is in his 14th season with the club and 10th as NHL scout, providing valuable information used in making trades and free-agent acquisitions or preparing for opponents.

Belisle, 58, joined the organization in 1982-83 as an assistant coach under Nick Polano. He remained as an assistant to Harry Neale and Brad Park, then assumed his present position in the summer of '86.

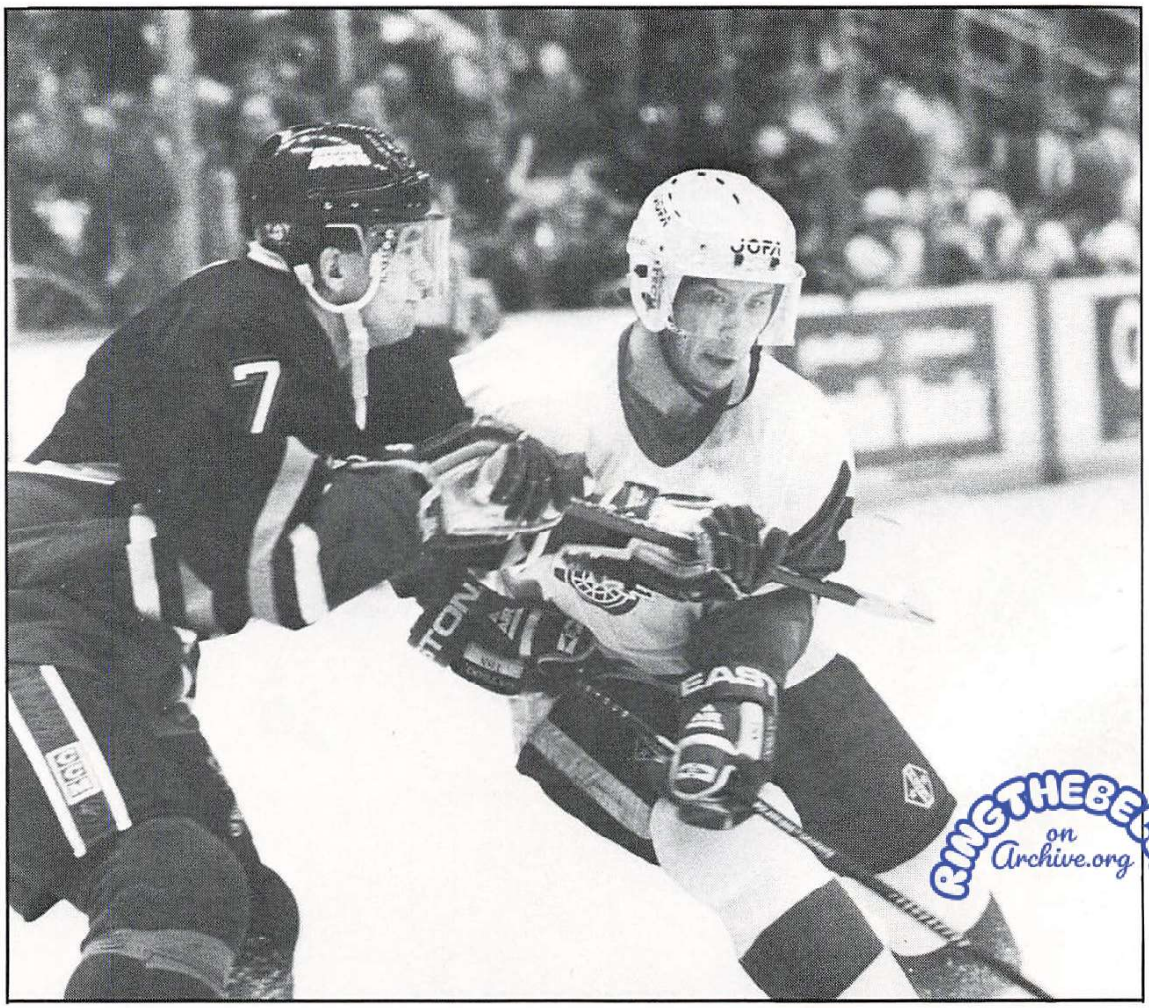
Belisle was a successful minor-league coach before becoming head coach at Washington in 78-79, remaining with the Capitals until early in the 79-80 season.

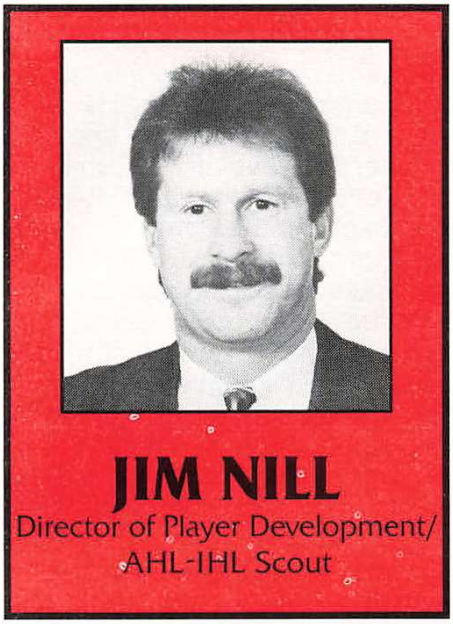
Dan returned to the minors in 80-81 as general manager/coach at Dallas (CHL), guiding that club to the regular-season title and winning the league's Coach of the Year award (one of four times he received such an honor in the minors).

Belisle made his pro coaching debut in 72-73 with Des Moines (IHL) and won the league title in his second season. He moved to Syracuse (NAHL) in 75-76, winning regular-season and playoff championships in his second year, then went to Philadelphia (AHL) in 77-78.

A native of South Porcupine, ON, Belisle spent most of his 15-year playing career as a right wing in the minors, although he played four games for the New York Rangers in the 60-61 season. He retired as a player in '71.

Dan and wife Carol reside in Sarasota, FL, and have three grown children, Debra, Dan Jr. and Dee.





JIM NILL
Director of Player Development/
AHL-IHL Scout

Jim Nill is in his second season in the Red Wings' front office and first in a newly created position as director of player development/AHL-IHL scout. He blends scouting ability and organizational skills to enhance the organization's efficiency.

Nill oversees the development of all Detroit-owned players, with the exception of those at the team's Adirondack (AHL) farm club. He focuses on prospects in the junior leagues and Europe and also scouts the AHL and IHL for potential free agents and trades.

Nill, 37, joined the Red Wings' hierarchy in the summer of 1994 after three seasons with the Ottawa Senators. He started with Ottawa as a scout in October of '91 and two years later became the club's pro scout.

Jim was no stranger to Detroit when he moved into the executive level. He spent his final 2½ years as an NHL player with the Red Wings after being acquired from Winnipeg Jan. 10, 1988, for Mark Kumpel. Nill later went to Adirondack as a player/coach, retiring as a player after the 90-91 season. A right wing in nine NHL seasons, he recorded 58 goals, 87 assists and 854 PIM in 524 regular-season games.

The native of Hanna, AB, played for Medicine Hat (WHL) in the junior ranks, one year at the University of Calgary and was was on the Canadian National and Olympic teams in 79-80. He was St. Louis' fourth pick (89th overall, fifth round) in the '78 Entry Draft and also played for Vancouver and Boston.

Jim and wife Bekki reside in Glens Falls, NY, with daughters Jenna and Kristin and son Trevor.

TRAINING & MEDICAL STAFF

John Wharton, in his fifth full season with the Red Wings, has used innovative skills to earn the reputation as one of the NHL's top athletic trainers. He came to the club in February of 1991 as strength and conditioning coordinator after five years in the Center for Athletic Medicine at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital. The Flint native has a bachelor of science degree in sports medicine from Central Michigan University and is a certified strength and conditioning specialist. He was hockey trainer at the '90 Goodwill Games and spent a season with the Detroit Lions. John, wife Jeanne and son Luke reside in suburban Detroit.

Paul Boyer is in his second season as equipment manager. He came to Detroit after one season with the New Jersey Devils. A native of Sault Ste. Marie, ON, Paul earned a bachelor of science degree from nearby Lake Superior State University, then spent five years as the school's hockey trainer before heading for the NHL. He is single and lives in suburban Detroit.

Assistant Equipment Manager Tim Abbott is in his fourth season. The Mt. Clemens native attended L'Anse Creuse High School and Macomb Community College, then spent four years as assistant trainer for Adirondack. Tim, wife Kristen and son Tyler reside in suburban Detroit..

Lending a hand with the busy workload in the dressing room are Johnny Remejes and Wally Crossman.

The Red Wings' medical staff is comprised of Drs. John Finley, D.O.; David Collon, M.D.; C.J. Regula, D.M.D., and Charles Slater, M.D. Dr. Finley has a general practice in Southfield; Dr. Collon is director of orthopedic surgery at the Center for Athletic Medicine at Henry Ford Hospital and also serves the Tigers and Lions; Dr. Regula has a dental practice in Livonia, and Dr. Slater an ophthalmology practice in St. Clair.

RED WINGS ON THE AIR

It never is easy to follow a legend, but Detroit native Ken Kal is equal to the task in his first season as the Red Wings' play-by-play announcer on flagship station WJR-AM (760) and an extensive radio network. He succeeds Hockey Hall of Famer Bruce Martyn, who retired last June after 31 brilliant seasons behind the mike. Returning for his ninth year is analyst Paul Woods. Kal, 38, had done radio play-by-play of University of Michigan hockey for the past 11 years on Ann Arbor AM stations — seven on WTKA after the first four on WAAM. He also covered the Red Wings as a reporter. Born and raised in the city of Detroit, Kal graduated from Wayne State University in 1979 and immediately joined WAAM, doing sports and working as a disc jockey.

Play-by-play announcer Dave Strader and analyst Mickey Redmond are in their 10th year together on Red Wings television — WKBD (Channel 50), Pro-Am Sports (PASS) and Special Order Sports (pay-per-view). PASS rebroadcasts the majority of its telecasts on the same night games are played.

Woods always has been a fan favorite in Detroit, beginning with a seven-year stint as a player from 1977-78 through 83-84. The native of Hespeler, ON, was drafted by Montreal in '75 but never played for the Canadiens and was obtained by Detroit in the '77 waiver draft. He had 72 goals and 124 assists in 501 regular-season NHL games.

Strader has been on the Detroit scene since the 1985-86 season and gained national acclaim last season for his work on Fox Network telecasts. He came to Detroit after six years as broadcaster and public relations director for the club's Adirondack (AHL) affiliate in his hometown of Glens Falls, NY. A graduate of the University of Massachusetts, he twice was honored by the New York State Broadcasters' Association for play-by-play excellence, and received the Ken McKenzie Award once as the AHL's top P.R. man. Dave also has done games for ESPN.

Redmond is a highly regarded analyst who also works for the Fox Network and previously did games for CBC's Hockey Night in Canada and ESPN. Mickey twice was a 50-goal scorer in five full seasons with Detroit after being acquired from Montreal with Guy Charron and Bill Collins for Frank Mahovlich in January of '71. He scored 52 goals and made the NHL's First All-Star Team in '73, and netted 51 the next season to earn a Second-Team berth. He had 233 goals and 195 assists in 538 regular-season games in nine NHL seasons with Montreal and Detroit.

Toby Cunningham, winner of six local Emmy Awards and four Associated Press honors for production of Red Wings telecasts, is in his 16th season as executive producer for Channel 50 coverage. Jim Holly is in his second year producing PASS games and Special Order Sports telecasts.

Following is the team's radio network (some stations broadcast a limited number of games):

WJR-AM (760), Detroit
WCHT-AM/FM (600/97), Escanaba
WTRX-AM (1330), Flint

TEAM HISTORY

The greatest of 'em all — Gordie Howe

Sid Abel's number was retired last April 29, reuniting him with Production Line teammates Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, whose Nos. 9 and 7 hang in rafters with No. 10 Alex Delvecchio, No. 1 Terry Sawchuk.

RED WINGS' HISTORY

This is the 70th anniversary season of NHL hockey in Detroit as the Red Wings continue to soar among the league's elite teams.

Last season was one of the most exciting in years. Detroit won the President's Trophy with the league's best record, posting a 33-11-4 mark for 70 points. The club went on to capture the Clarence Campbell Bowl as Western Conference playoff champions and earned a berth in the Stanley Cup final for the first time since 1966. Being swept by New Jersey in the final was disappointing but took only some luster off an otherwise brilliant season.

It was the second year in a row Detroit paced the Western Conference during regular-season action. In winning the Central Division title, the club finished first in its division for the second consecutive season, the third time in four years and fifth in the previous eight.

The Red Wings remained an offensive powerhouse in 1995, ranking third in the NHL with 180 goals in the lockout-shortened 48-game season after leading the league the previous two years. Detroit's power play was a potent force, tying for second with a 24.2 percentage. Perhaps more impressive was the team's stingy defensive play. The Red Wings were second in the league with a 2.42 goals-against average and second in penalty killing at 86.4 percent.

Detroit fans continued to flock to Joe Louis Arena. Although no attendance records were set in '95 because of the lockout caused by a labor dispute between owners and players, the club drew 474,714 in 24 home games for an average of 19,780 (more than the arena capacity of 19,275). Detroit had set the NHL attendance record in 1993-94 when 812,640 viewed 41 regular-season games for an average of 19,820 per game. Entering this season, including regular season and playoffs, the Red Wings have drawn more than 19,000 for 348 of their last 350 games, including 236 in a row.

One of the most important dates in recent club history was June 22, 1982, when Mike Ilitch purchased a struggling franchise and transformed it into the one of the NHL's best. In Ilitch's 13 years as owner, the club has won five division titles (87-88, 88-89, 91-92, 93-94, 95) and made three trips to the conference playoff final ('87, '88, '95). Ten times the team has made the playoffs in that stretch, including eight of the past nine years.

Detroit's love affair with hockey goes back to the late 1920s and has continued to the present at Joe Louis Arena, which opened for hockey Dec. 27, 1979. The area also has some of North America's finest youth programs, producing future players and cultivating lifelong fans.

Pro hockey arrived in Detroit Sept. 25, 1926, when a group of Detroit businessmen purchased an NHL franchise and stocked it with players from the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League. The club was called the Detroit Cougars but played its inaugural season across the Detroit River in Canada at Windsor's Border Cities Arena.

The Cougars' first NHL game was Nov. 18, 1926, in which they dropped a 2-0 decision to the Boston Bruins. Detroit won the next game, 4-2 against the New York Americans, but finished last with a 12-28-4 record.

The Cougars moved into legendary Olympia Stadium on Grand River Avenue for their second season and played the first game there Nov. 22, 1927. Detroit's Johnny Sheppard scored the first goal, but the Cougars suffered a 2-1 loss to the defending champion Ottawa Senators. Detroit registered its first home victory and shutout Nov. 27 as goaltender "Hap" Holmes posted a 2-0 decision over the Montreal Canadiens.

Arriving in 1927-28 was Jack Adams, whose 35-year career with the club left an indelible mark on hockey in Detroit and earned him a niche in the Hockey Hall of Fame.

In 1928-29, Detroit finished third and made the first of 44 playoff appearances in 69 seasons. The team changed its name to Falcons in 1930 when some Detroit media members thought a change might bring some luck to a club that had missed the playoffs the previous season. No luck, however, as Detroit again missed the playoffs, although the Falcons did gain a berth in 1931-32.

In the summer of 1932, American industrialist James Norris bought the franchise and renamed it Red Wings. He imported the name from Canada, where he had played hockey for a club called the Winged Wheelers in the Montreal Athletic Association. That team's insignia — a winged wheel — struck Norris as a natural for a club representing the Motor City. The logo became an automobile tire with a flying wing attached and has remained the same except for minor artistic variations.

The Red Wings became an NHL power under Norris and Adams. In 1933-34, they won the first of 14 regular-season NHL titles and reached the Stanley Cup final for the first time before bowing to the Chicago Blackhawks, three games to one, in a best-of-five series.

The Red Wings dominated the NHL in 1935-36 and 36-37, winning a pair of regular-season championships and their first two Stanley Cup titles — a prize the club has won seven times. Detroit won its third Cup championship in 1943, but the best was yet to come.

Adams assembled a team in the late '40s that ranks among the NHL's greatest dynasties. Between the 1948-49 and 54-55 seasons, the Red Wings won seven consecutive regular-season titles — still a league record — and four Stanley Cup championships.

Detroit remained strong through the late 1950s and into the '60s, winning two more regular-season titles but bowing four times in the Cup final during that span.

The Norris family retained ownership of the team for 50 years. The elder Norris served as club president until his death in 1952 and was succeeded by his daughter, Marguerite. Norris' son, Bruce, took over as president in 1955 and remained until selling the club to Ilitch in '82.

The Red Wings have featured some of the game's brightest stars — including the greatest of them all, Gordie Howe — and continue to showcase some of the world's best players. Forty-six people associated with the club are in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Detroit players have been voted to postseason NHL All-Star teams 92 times, and club players, coaches and executives have won 51 individual league trophies.

PRESS, RADIO, TV INFORMATION

The Red Wings are happy to serve you and appreciate your cooperation. Please phone Public Relations office at (313) 396-7537 with questions, comments or suggestions. Thank you.

SEASON PASS: Valid for preseason, regular-season games; available only to authorized media covering majority of games.

GAME PASS: Valid for one specific game; available to authorized media covering limited number of games.

HOW TO APPLY: Applications for season or single-game passes must be submitted on company letterhead to Red Wings' Public Relations Office, Joe Louis Arena, Detroit, MI 48226, or by FAX, (313) 567-0296. Single-game passes must be requested 24 hours in advance. Credential requests subject to review by Detroit chapter of Professional Hockey Writers' Association or Detroit Sports Broadcasters' Association. Please enter arena through West Gate press entrance, located on Third Avenue.

PRESS BOX & RADIO-TV BOOTHS: Located at top of arena seats on west side of building and reached by East Gate or West Gate elevator to third floor. Equipped with Charge-a-Call phones, VDT outlets. Coffee, soda, popcorn available. Smoking prohibited in arena. City law prohibits taking beverage cans from press box into arena seating area.

MEDIA LOUNGE: Located in hallway near Red Wings' dressing room on side of arena facing Detroit River. Credentials must be displayed to gain entrance. Opens two hours before game, remains open 45 minutes after game. Hot meals and pizza served before games. Coffee, soda available. Due to limited space, guests are not permitted.

PRACTICE SESSIONS: Dressing room closed to media before and during practice and opens 10 minutes after head coach leaves ice following practice. Access limited to 30 minutes, although exceptions could be made. In event of team meeting immediately after practice, the room opens at conclusion of meeting.

GAME DAY/NIGHT: Dressing room open to until 5:30 p.m. on game nights, with players available until 5:45; until 11 a.m. for matinees, with players available until 11:15. Room open to media no later than 10 minutes after game and access limited to a 45 minutes, although exceptions could be made.

PREGAME TV-RADIO INTERVIEWS: Television and radio stations seeking live or taped pregame interviews must request coach or player and state specific time of interview to P.R. staff before or during game-day morning skate. Interviews are to be done apart from players' locker area, no later than 5:45 before night game, 11:15 for matinee.

BETWEEN-PERIOD TV INTERVIEWS: Requests are to be made before or during game-day morning skate.

OFF-LIMITS: Not open to media are medical room, weight room, shower and sink area, and players' lounge.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Those requiring specific vantage points are to phone P.R. office no later than 2 p.m. for night game, 10 a.m. for matinee at (313) 396-7537. Please state how long photographer will stay at game.

PARKING: Reporters/photographers for daily newspapers/wire services or reporters/camerapersons from TV/radio stations who cover majority of games may park at no charge in media section of Joe Louis Arena Garage. City-owned parking garage has limited space and charges P.R. department for each media car parked; therefore, Red Wings regretfully are unable to accomodate everyone for free. Receipts available.

SCHEDULE

Each team plays 82-game schedule.

Teams in Detroit's Central Division of Western Conference play six games each against three divisional opponents (18 games), five contests each against remaining two divisional opponents (10 games), four games each against seven teams in Pacific Division (28 games) and two contests each against 13 teams in Northeast and Atlantic divisions of Eastern Conference (26 games).

TIE-BREAKER FORMULA

To break tie in final regular-season standings, following methods are used:

1. Most overall victories; 2. Best record in games between tied teams; 3. Best differential between goals for and goals against during 82-game regular season; 4. Meeting or conference call between league general managers.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

Conference-based system matches No. 1 team vs. No. 8, No. 2 vs. No. 7, No. 3 vs. No. 6, No. 4 vs. No. 5. Four division winners receive first two seeds in each conference; No. 2 seed could be division winner with fewer points than lower seeds, retaining that seed through conference championship.

All series best-of-seven, with home-ice rotating on 2-2-1-1-1 basis. In series between Central and Pacific division clubs, team with most points could choose to start series at home or on road and opt for 2-3-2 format.

Western, Eastern conference champions meet in Stanley Cup final.
